PFAS SURCHARGE CANCELLED!

YES, you read that correctly! In August, the Authority hosted Governor Tom Wolf and Representative Todd Stephens, along with other state and local officials for an announcement of new state funding to alleviate the surcharge that was instituted in 2016 in order to achieve Horsham's aggressive goal of a "non-detect" standard for PFAS.

Beginning with this bill, customers will see the full surcharge credited on their invoice. The Authority continues to incur the additional operational costs of sustaining its "non-detect" standard; however, the surcharge is now expected to be paid through the state grant funding.

The Authority is deeply grateful for the collaboration among state and local elected officials in obtaining the funding to ease the financial burden you have been experiencing for the past three years.

We appreciate your ongoing cooperation and together with our elected officials will work to assure that your water remains free from these contaminants. Thank you!
